

Borjesson cont. on p. 18

agreed to review Annie's autopsy report and toxicology test results, documents, funeral home photographs, and photos of where Annie's body was found. Dr. Larkin reported the autopsy report was inadequate and not performed to recognized professional standards in the U.S. To proceed further Dr. Larkin needed the autopsy photos to try and fill in holes in the autopsy report, but the Scottish authorities refused to turn them over to Guje Borjesson, so the case hit a dead end for his involvement. However, he noted a specie of diatom associated with fresh water was recovered from Annie's bone marrow – when she was found on a salt water beach, and a drowned person is face down – when Annie was found face-up.

It is absurd for the police to have closed Annie's case by declaring she committed suicide by drowning when there was a lack of credible evidence she drowned in the shallow bay and washed ashore to where she was found on her back with her coat and two bags conveniently near her. Annie may have been drowned, but the available evidence is it likely would have been in fresh water, and her assailant(s) then transported her to the beach with her belongings. That is also suggested by two autopsy report findings: First, "Lividity is noted in the lower back, the buttocks and upper back," when it isn't reasonable Annie would have lividity on her back if she drowned in the bay. Second, "there is a pale area on the left side of the nose which is in line with the pale depression noted in the forehead. This may very well be a post mortem impression as a result of the body lying on or against some article." Annie's body was not found lying on or against any article on the beach -- so the "pale area" and "pale depression" reasonably could only have been caused if she died elsewhere.

Annie Borjesson's body was found just over the sea wall from where Guje Borjesson is standing. (Maria Janssen)

Click here to sign the petition to the Scottish Parliament in support of a mandatory public inquiry with the release of all evidence in deaths determined to be self-inflicted or accidental under suspicious circumstances

Kenneth Roy's six-part article about the unsolved case of Annie Borgesson's death is in the December 4, 2013 issue of Scottish Review. Click here to read "The Mysterious Life and Death of Annie Borjesson."

The Annie Borjesson website is, www.annierockstar.com.

The complete petition to Scotland's Parliament can be read by clicking here.

Source:
The Mysterious Life and Death of Annie Borjesson: A Special Edition, Scottish Review, December 4, 2013
Annie Borjesson, Autopsy Report, December 2006
Annie Borjesson website

Freedom March For The Wrongfully Convicted In Washington, Pennsylvania On March 14, 2014

A Freedom March For The Wrongfully Convicted was held in Washington, Pennsylvania on Friday, March 14, 2014. It began at noon at the Washington County Courthouse, 1 South Main St., in Washington, about 25 miles south of Pittsburgh. The website, www.freedommarchusa.org, had information about the march and a map of its location.

Among the persons at the march and who spoke at the rally was Jeffrey Deskovic, who was wrongly convicted and imprisoned for 16 years for a rape and murder in New York that he didn't commit.

The Freedom March's organizer was Mary-Ann Lubas, and her email is mlubas2@yahoo.com. She became involved in publicizing the problem of wrongful convictions after her son Michael DeLoe was convicted of a crime that never happened. His website is justiceformike.net.

A flyer with information about the march that can be printed out can be read by clicking here.

Trial by Perjury: Millionaire, Mania & Misinformation

by Nancy Hall

This $3.99 Amazon Kindle e-book book is about how Celeste Beard Johnson was convicted in 2003 of capital murder in the death of her then husband Steven F. Beard, who died of natural causes in 2000. She was sentenced to life in prison.

While in bed at home in Oct. 1999, Steven was shot in his stomach with a shotgun. Tracey Tarlton, a woman who became infatuated with Celeste after they met in February 1999, admitted the shooting and she was charged with Injury to an Elderly Person. Steven recovered and was discharged from the hospital on January 18, 2000. The next day he was readmitted with a yeast infection and he complained of chest pains. Exams showed he had severe heart disease and other medical problems. He died four days later. Tarlton and Celeste were charged with murdering Steven. Tarlton pled guilty and agreed to testify against Celeste in exchange for a 10-20 year prison sentence. Celeste was convicted even though medical evidence showed Steven died of natural causes – not murder. Order for the Amazon Kindle for only $3.99 from Amazon.com. (252 pgs)

Improper Submissions: Records of a Wrongful Conviction

By Erma Armstrong

This is the story of Karlyn Eklof, a young woman delivered into the hands of a psychotic killer. She witnessed him commit a murder and she is currently serving two life sentences in Oregon for that crime. Improper Submissions documents:

- The way the killer's psychotic bragging was used by the prosecution against Karlyn.
- The way exculpatory and witness impeachment evidence was hidden from the defense.
- The way erroneous assertions by the prosecution were used by the media, judges reviewing the case, and even by her own lawyers to avoid looking at the record that reveals her innocence.

Paperback, 370 pages, $10

Order with a credit card from Justice Denied's Bookshop, www.justicedenied.org

Visit the Innocents Database

Includes details about more than 4,700 wrongly convicted people from the U.S. and other countries.

www.forejustice.org/search\_idb.htm