The scales of justice are tipped against innocent people all across the country - from Maine to Hawaii and from Alaska to Florida. Justice: Denied provides a public voice for innocent people victimized by that tragic reality.

Like Toto in the Wizard of Oz, Justice:Denied pulls the curtain aside and reveals that the pomp and ceremony of the legal process perpetrates the hoax that it can reliably distinguish the innocent from the guilty. The one in seven felons estimated to be innocent of the crime he or she was convicted of reveals that idea is as dead wrong as the innocent people known to have been executed.

As a whistleblower of injustice, Justice:Denied exposes the tragic human consequences of judges, prosecutors, police investigators and lab technicians acting on the idea that what they do is 'Good enough for government work.' Their shoddy work is routinely exposed during an investigation initiated by a wrongly convicted person's family member or friend, by journalism or law school students, or by a newspaper reporter or compassionate stranger. Those are the sorts of outsiders most wrongly convicted people owe for their exoneration, not insiders privy to the details of the innocent person's frame-up.

Justice:Denied's features include: articles about ongoing cases; news items of interest; stories about exonerated people; reviews of books and movies; and an analysis of law review articles, studies and legal opinions related to wrongful convictions. More than any other publication in the world Justice:Denied is a real-time manual of how a person is wrongly convicted - and how that person is then exonerated.

To aid victims of a wrongful conviction, Justice:Denied has an Innocence Resource Guide listing the address of innocence projects and other contacts related to wrongful convictions. The Guide is available on the Internet at: http://justicedenied.org/resource.htm

Justice:Denied also has an Article Submission Guide for people interested in submitting a story of wrongful conviction. It includes the address of the magazine staff person assigned to receive articles for each state. This is also available on the Internet at: http://justicedenied.org/submita.htm

Justice:Denied is the Toto of Wrongful Convictions

Freeing The Innocent (softcover) $15 x ___ = $ _______
Prisoners (6 issues JD mag) $10 x ___ = $ _______
Non-prisoners (6 issues JD mag) $20 x ___ = $ _______
Sample Issue (JD mag) $ 3 x ___ = $ _______
Donation (See below for tax deductibility) $ _______
Total Enclosed $ _______

Order 1 Mailing Info
Name: __________________________
DOC #: _________________________
Suite/Cell: _______________________
Agency/Inst: _____________________
Address: _________________________
City/State/Zip: ____________________
Extra Line: ________________________

Mail Checks and Money Orders to:
Justice Denied
P.O. Box 68911
Seattle, WA 98168

Or order with a credit card from Justice:Denied’s website:
http://justicedenied.org

Email comments or questions to:
info@justicedenied.org

Justice:Denied is published by The Justice Institute, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, and donations can be tax deductible.
Justice: Denied relentlessly sheds light on the darkest injustice imaginable - the prosecution, conviction and punishment of the innocent.

As an independent non-profit publication that is not beholden to editorially pleasing any private group or public agency, Justice: Denied fearlessly prints stories of wrongful conviction and how and why they occur. No one is spared exposure for their role in causing an injustice: Prosecutors, detectives, lab technicians, judges, witnesses, politicians, jurors and defense lawyers are all fair game.

Since its founding in 1998, Justice: Denied has provided a public voice for the innocent people - estimated to be as many as one and a third million - buried in the depths of this country's federal and state law enforcement systems.

As the only magazine published in this country devoted to wrongful convictions, Justice: Denied sends out invaluable SOS messages to the free world about the plight of people as innocent of the crime when they were convicted of committing it as the person reading this.

Everyday hundreds of people learn 'It can't happen to me' was wishful thinking. A person's innocence is irrelevant if the illusion is created they are guilty - and everyone knows 'guilty until proven innocent.'

Overturning a wrongful conviction is a monumental task. An innocent person's conviction after a several day trial can, and often times does take years of effort by dedicated people to overturn.

To do so requires convincing skeptical people that a person has been wronged by the legal system. The difficulty in doing that is why Justice: Denied shines its light on cases of people who can make a credible argument that they got the ultimate raw deal - being convicted of a crime they didn't commit.

How Are People Wrongly Convicted?

A number of factors contribute to the remarkable ease that vast numbers of men, women and increasingly children are victimized by a wrongful conviction. One or more of the following factors are typically present in a case of wrongful conviction:

- Overzealous prosecutors solely concerned with winning
- Inadequate police investigation
- Fabrication of evidence or doctor reports by the police and/or crime lab technicians.
- Erroneous identification by the victim or other eyewitnesses
- False confession physically or psychologically coerced
- Inexperienced or incompetent defense lawyer
- Perjury by the police and/or other prosecution witnesses.
- Inaccurate analysis of evidence by crime lab technicians
- Uncritical jurors who blithely accept the prosecutor's case
- Smearing of the defendant's character in the courtroom and the media for alleged or actual actions that have no relationship to the charges
- Critical evidence disappears, is destroyed, or the prosecution resists providing it for defense testing
- Prejudice against a defendant's ethnicity, religion, or political or personal ideas by the prosecutor, judge and/or jurors
- Coercion of an innocent defendant to accept a plea bargain by the prosecutor's piling on of charges that will result in a much longer sentence if the defendant goes to trial and loses
- Purchase of perjurious testimony by the prosecutor
- Wording of an indictment to paint an innocent person in the worst light possible in the eyes of the judge and jury

The playing field is heavily tilted in favor of the prosecution when a defendant isn't wealthy enough to hire the highest quality lawyers, investigators and expert witnesses to counter the prosecution's virtually unlimited resources. So the likelihood of a wrongful conviction becomes a near certainty when an innocent person who doesn't have hundreds of thousands of dollars to spend on a defense, encounters a deck stacked by such things as police perjury; falsification or destruction of evidence by the police, crime lab technicians or prosecutors; perjured testimony purchased by an unscrupulous prosecutor; a pro-prosecution judge; or prejudiced jurors. Under those conditions the wonder isn't that the innocent are convicted, but that they are ever acquitted.

JD's website is at: http://justicedenied.org

The Wrongly Convicted Are Becoming Visible

Justice: Denied, and its website that gets over a million hits a year, has been a leader in increasing public awareness about the prevalence of wrongful convictions. When Justice: Denied was founded it was one of a very few voices crying in the wilderness about the nationwide scandal of innocent people being falsely branded as criminals. That concern is now openly shared by the professors, students, lawyers and journalists involved in more than three dozen innocence projects across the country. There are also now several websites that expose different aspects of wrongful convictions, and newspapers regularly report on exonerated people.

Governor George Ryan's pardoning ceremony on January 10, 2003 of four innocent men on Illinois' death row who had been tortured into falsely confessing would have been unthinkable just a few years ago. There was extensive news coverage of those pardons and of Gov. Ryan's commutations the next day of everyone on Illinois' death row, because of the possibility there were undetected innocent people among them. Afterwards an Illinois prosecutor admitted what also would have been unthinkable a few years ago: innocent people confess to crimes they didn't commit and some of them end up on death row.

"In November of 2000 Justice:Denied published an article I had written about my son Derek’s case and a publisher from Medstar Television read that article which led to the production of an hour long episode of Medical Detectives which airs on The Learning Channel. That program has been seen around the world; we have received numerous messages of concern and offers of support. An article was written and published in the February 2003 issue of Playboy and a book is currently in the process of being written. All of the recognition and support would not have happened were it not for Justice:Denied. The dedication of the staff is to be highly commended." Larry A. Tice, father of Derek Tice, one of the “Navy’s Forgotten Four”.

Justice: Denied’s mission can be summed up as a crusade to make ‘Innocent Until Proven Guilty’ more than a hollow phrase used by judges, prosecutors and the police to cover-up that in reality the reverse is usually true: an accused person is considered to be ‘Guilty Until Proven Innocent’.

Public exposure is a powerful antidote to injustice.

Keep up-to-date by subscribing to Justice:Denied, or help expose the injustice of wrongful convictions by donating today! (see other side)